

Medtronic is currently hiring for highly strategic and visible Sr. Human Resources Generalist opening. This position will serve as an HR business partner to key clients groups within the Corporate sector, primarily for our Central Operations Clinical function. This involves support of remote based Clinical Professional across multiple US locations.

The position provides HR business partnership and is responsible for developing and implementing standards to drive consistent practice of core HR processes across the Central Operations Clinical organization in the following areas: organization and leadership development, change management, talent and performance management, talent acquisition, employee relations, and compensation/rewards. This position also functions as the first point of contact for day to day questions and issues coming from people leaders and employees within the Central Operations Clinical function.

We are seeking candidates with a Bachelors degree and 4+ years of professional Human Resources experience or an MBA/MAIR with 2+ years of professional Human Resources experience. The position is based in Fridley, Minnesota. Please note that we are unable to reimburse relocation.

If you are interested in this role, please apply at the following link:

<http://jobs.medtronic.com/>. Please enter requisition number 79866- SR. HR Generalist, at this site.